

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF DIXON BY ACT OF CITY COUNCIL

Telegraph Sixtieth Year

DIXON, ILLINOIS, TUESDAY MARCH 5 1912.

Dixon Daily Twenty-Eighth Year No 55

CITY COUNCIL PASSED SALOON ORDINANCE

VOTE OF THREE TO TWO ESTABLISHES ORDINANCE THAT ALLOWS BUT ONE CORNER SALOON IN DEMENTTOWN.

HOSPITAL REPORT IS GRATIFYING

Board of Ladies Are Excellent Business Managers—Schmidt Files Ordinance for Opening of Street.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Passed Mayor Brinton's Prohibition Territory ordinance, limiting saloon territory in Dementtown, by a vote of 3 to 2. Commissioners Gannon and Schmidt voted with the mayor in favor of the passage of the ordinance, while Commissioners Van Bibber and Schuler voted against the measure.

Accepted report of the hospital board showing cash on hand of $4,526.76.

Passed monthly bills amounting to $1,952.13.

Ordinance providing for the opening of East Morgan street through to Assembly Place, placed on file.

As was expected, Mayor Brinton's ordinance cutting down the saloon territory in Dementtown so that no saloons can be located there except on the west side of Depot avenue from Seventh street 250 feet south, was passed by the city council last night.

This ordinance was placed on file by the mayor two weeks ago. When it was brought up last night, and before a vote was taken on it, the clerk read a petition signed by 105 citizens, ten of them men, protesting against the location of a saloon on the northwest corner of Seventh street and Depot avenue, and urging the passage of the ordinance.

Schuler Takes Stand.

There were few remarks when the question was put to a vote. Commissioners Schmidt and Gannon had voted in favor of the measure, and when Mr. Schuler's name was called he made the only talk on the proposed measure that was made.

He referred to the property, occupied by the Dixon National bank, on the rear and side of which there are located saloons, and said: "This question puts me in a little different position than the rest of you. I can't understand if a saloon is harmful to adjoining property why I should have to stand to have one on each side of my property. If they are harmful to children in Dementtown, why are they not harmful to children down town? I vote No on the proposition."

Commissioner Van Bibber voted "No," and the mayor, of course, cast the deciding vote in favor of his proposition. The ordinance being passed, the petition was placed on file, and the council proceeded to the less important business.

Bills Total $1952.13.

The monthly bills for February were allowed, the total being $1952.13. The larger ones were as follows: Street labor, $163.53; fire department, $235; police department, $303.33; cemetery pay roll, $113.

Hospital Report Gratifying.

The hospital board submitted their annual report to the city council, and the report speaks eloquently of the ability of the ladies in charge of the institution, in that it shows that in addition to being self-sustaining—something remarkable for hospitals in the smaller towns—the Dixon institution is a profitable business proposition. The report which was examined and certified by J. B. Lennon of the Dixon National bank, shows:

Balance on hand, Jan. 1, 1911 .....$1 705 33
Receipts for 1911 .....12 168 44

Total .....$13 873 77
Disbursements, 1911 .....$10 883 01
Balance on hand Jan. 3,

Jan. 3, 1911 .....$2 990 76
The report submitted by Mr. Lennon shows certificates of deposit on hand to the credit of the hospital, bringing their total balance to $4,526.76.

MISS ETHEL ROOSEVELT.

Rumor has it that the younger daughter of Colonel Roosevelt is engaged to marry George Pallen Snow of New York. Miss Roosevelt is at present in Central America with her mother, and Mr. Snow is said to be one of the party.

Morgan Street Ordinance.

The clerk last night announced that an ordinance, providing for the opening of Morgan street through to Assembly Place, which had been decided upon some time ago, had been placed on file by Commissioner Schmidt and was ready for passage at next meeting. This improvement is one that the people of that vicinity have been wanting for some time and deliverymen, who have occasion to be in that neighborhood, will also appreciate the work when it has been completed.

DEATH TAKES MISS ELLA BLACKBURN

DIXON WOMAN PASSED AWAY AT HER HOME IN DIXON LAST EVENING.

Miss Ella Blackburn died suddenly at her home, 116 East Eighth street, at about 11:45 o'clock last night, death resulting from pleurisy and la grippe, from which she had suffered for a short time. She was attacked last night and in spite of the best of medical assistance, she passed away. The funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. and at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. Father Foley officiating. Interment will be at Oakwood.

The deceased was born in Lee Center 45 years ago. In her childhood she moved to Marion township with her parents, both of whom have preceded her to the great beyond, and 14 years ago she moved to Dixon, where she has since resided. Countless friends extend sincere condolence to the four sisters and three brothers who survive her: Anna, Elizabeth, Mrs. Hilliger, Margaret, Peter, James and Daniel, all of Dixon.

KELLEY HURT WHEN

THROWN FROM FIRE WAGON Charles Kelley was painfully hurt last night by falling off the hose wagon, sustaining a severe cut in his left leg. Kelley had jumped on the wagon while the firemen were responding to the alarm from the Rodesch piano factory and while the wagon was turning the corner at the foot of Hen nepin avenue he was thrown off. A long gash, requiring two stitches, was cut in the leg.

CHIMNEY FIRE AT

RODESCH FACTORY The fire department was called to the Rodesch piano factory on River street at about 8 o'clock, the cause of the alarm being a chimney fire. The firemen did not find it necessary to throw any water, the fire burning itself out without doing any damage.

SALOON ORDINANCE STIRS UP FACTIONS

ATTORNEY ERWIN ACTS FOR OUTSIDE BREWERIES; ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION.

ERWIN ALLEGES ILLEGALITY

Asserts That as the Ordinance Prohibits a Brewer Holding Lease on Saloon Building, That Law Is Being Violated.

As a result of the agitation for and against Mayor Brinton's Dementtown saloon limits ordinance, an investigation as to the ownership of Dixon saloons may be started. The council last evening adjourned without giving Attorney John E. Erwin, who was present representing Max Lett, local agent for the Union Brewing company of Peoria, an opportunity to address them.

However, undaunted, Mr. Erwin got inside the railing immediately after adjournment and had some very pertinent remarks to make to the commissioner, who had voted in favor of the ordinance.

Says Breweries Hold Leases.

Mr. Erwin insisted that the leases for the buildings occupied by several saloons are held by brewing companies or their agents, and he insisted that since the council had taken so determined a stand against breweries having any connection whatever with the saloons, that the commissioners start an investigation of all the dram shops in the city. He was backed up in his argument by Commissioner Schuler.

May Call for Election.

There is considerable talk today in parts of the city regarding the council's passage of the ordinance, and some of the opponents of the measure are talking of a petition requiring the council to either repeal the ordinance or submit it to the people for a vote. The commission form of law provides for this referendum feature, and allows the petitioners 30 days after the passage of any measure in which to file their petition calling for a referendum.

BIG FREIGHT 'WRECK' NEAR SUBLETTE

THIRTY-ONE CARS AND ENGINE LEAVE RAILS ON ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

TRAINS SENT AROUND ON "Q"

Wrecker Arrived on Scene at Two o'clock and Is Still at Work—No One Is Injured.

Sublette, Ill., Mch. 5.—Special to Telegraph—Freight train No. 152, northbound, was wrecked at a point two miles below here early this morning. Spreading of the rails is said to have caused the trouble. Thirty-one cars left the track but none of them were turned over.

One of the big engines was pulling the train and it is probably owing to the weight of the engine that the train was not derailed and more damage done.

None of the crew were injured. There were six cars carrying immigrants' household goods, and many coal cars.

Wrecker Arrives.

The wrecker from Freeport went through here about 2 o'clock and set to work at once clearing up the wreck.

Train Sent Around Wreck.

The trains have been dispatched from Amboy to Mendota on the C. B. & Q. all day, thus getting around the wreck.

MRS. McCUNE BETTER.

Mrs. Thomas McCune of the Bend, who has been seriously ill for some time, is reported much better today by her attending physician. Her husband, who has also been ill, is reported much improved.

DRAINAGE JURY'S FIGURES ARE CLOSE

ONLY TRIFLE DIFFERENT FROM THOSE OF EGAN—JURY EXCUSED UNTIL MONDAY

ATTORNEYS ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Probate Court Matters Disposed of Yesterday By Judge Scott—A Guardian Appointed.

The jury in the Inlet Swamp drainage case, which reported yesterday afternoon, after being on the case since Dec. 21, established a remarkable record in the thoroughness of their work. The total amount of their assessment is $2.10 less than that of Engineer John Egan Jr., who prepared the roll as submitted by the commissioners.

However, the jury reapportioned the assessments greatly. Those in the east end of the county have had their assessments reduced from 10 to 25 per cent, which amounts have been added to the assessments of the property owners in the flat area.

Following the submission of their verdict Judge Scott excused the jury until next Monday at 2 p. m. during which time any clerical errors, if any there be, will show up. If no such errors are evident then the jury will in all probability be discharged.

Ask for New Trial.

Baxter & Wirick, the Rochelle attorneys who have been so prominent in this case, have filed a motion before Judge Scott asking for a new trial on behalf of their objecting clients. This motion will be argued next Monday. The following comparison of the recapitulation of the assessments as prepared by the jury and by the engineer will show the work that has been done in this case by the jury:

In the Probate Court.

In the probate court yesterday, Judge Scott disposed of a great deal of routine business. Among the matters before the court, the docket shows this action:

Estate of Walter R. Harden—W. W. Harden appointed administrator under bonds of $800, which were approved.

Estate of Francis A. Ballou—Katherine B. Ballou was appointed administratrix under bonds of $2500 which were approved.

Guardianship of Oscar Kersten, Earl W. Kersten and Ralph C. Kersten; John J. Vaupeul was appointed guardian of the three children.

GOVERNOR DENEEN TO BE HERE FRIDAY

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR TO ADDRESS VOTERS IN OPERA HOUSE—DESERVES CONSIDERATION.

Governor Charles S. Deneen will be in Dixon on Friday of this week. He will speak to the voters, and to the ladies also, in the Dixon opera house on that afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Deneen is a candidate for the nomination for governor, to succeed himself, on the republican ticket and the republicans of this city and of Lee county will be on hand to hear him put his case before the people.

Mr. Deneen is the governor of this great state of Illinois, and his administration, generally speaking, has been a safe, conservative one and he is certainly deserving of consideration in the coming fight. Governor Deneen has favored Dixon in the past, and for this also he deserves some reward in the form of interest in his meeting, and fairminded consideration at the hands of the voters.

BETTERS HIMSELF.

Howard McCleary, who left Dixon a year ago last November to assume a position with the Morris packing company and who has been very successful with them at their Seattle, Wash., plant, has resigned his position with that company and accepted a much better position with the Swift interests. He will work in their Vancouver branch.

FRANK WHIPPERMAN

GOES TO ALASKA Charles Whipperman has received word from his son, Frank, who is at Seattle, Wash., stating that he will leave next Sunday evening for the gold fields of Alaska.

WILL EXPLAIN RAISE IN WOODMAN RATES

F. J. TILTON OF ROCHELLE WILL BE IN DIXON TO TALK TO WOODMEN THURSDAY, MARCH 7TH.

Local officers of the Woodmen have received word that F. J. Tilton of Ashton will be in Dixon to attend the regular meeting of the order on Thursday, March 7th, and will talk to the local lodge members about the recent raise in rates that has made such a stir in M. W. A. circles.

Mr. Tilton, it is said, will explain certain circumstances of interest to Woodmen.

A. H. Richtmeyer of Sterling may also attend the meeting.

KAUFMAN MURDERERS GET SENTENCES

RABENAU GETS LIFE—CHANNELL AND STACEY GET TWENTY-FIVE YEARS EACH.

Chicago, Mch. 5.—Special to Telegraph—The jury in the Kaufman murder case reported this morning, sentencing Rabenau, the man who fired the fatal shot, to life imprisonment, Channell and Stacey were given 25 years each.

The men plead guilty to a murder which started the north side three months ago. The Kaufmans were returning to their home after an evening at a theatre when an automobile drove up, three men jumped out and ordered them to throw up their hands. One of the robbers fired and Mrs. Kaufman died without regaining consciousness. The men confessed to the crime.

GEN. OROZCO TO STORM CAPITAL

SENATOR DU PONT.

The senator from Delaware denies the charges that his seat in the senate was won by corruption. The charges were made by Senator Reed of Missouri who introduced a resolution in the senate calling for an investigation of Senator Du Pont's election.

SCHMIDT ASCERTAINS BOND POSSIBILITIES

COMMISSIONER HAS PREPARED STATEMENT SHOWING WHAT DIXON MAY RAISE.

MAY ISSUE BONDS FOR $108,000

After End of Year—If Waterworks Can Be Purchased Under This Figure, City Can Buy It.

Commissioner Henry Schmidt of the department of accounts and finances has prepared a complete statement of the city's bonded indebtedness, which will be of interest, inasmuch as all talk concerning purchasing the Dixon waterworks has not abated. The report shows that at the end of this year the city of Dixon will be able to issue bonds to the amount of $108,446.24, for any purpose. Mr. Schmidt's figures are:

City bonds now out .....	$12 910 20
To be paid April 1 .....	4 103 89

Total April 1 .....	$8 806 31
City building bonds .....	$24 690 00

Total bonded debt .....	$32 806 31

Inasmuch as the city's limit as provided by the statute is $141,252.55, it is evident that should it be desired the council can, at the end of the year issue bonds to the amount of $108,446.24.

Whether this amount would be enough to purchase the waterworks is problematical, depending entirely on the value of the works as it would be determined by three appraisers. There are those who believe that the plant cannot possibly be worth over $100,000, while others are of the opinion that under no possibility can it be obtained for less than $120,000.

The council apparently has developed great lassitude in dealing with the water question, inasmuch as nothing has been said in any of the meetings for some time regarding this proposition. In the meantime the water company is demonstrating that it can give very satisfactory service in all parts of the city.

HOME FROM CASE.

Miss Gretha Hayunga, nurse, is off duty after a three weeks' case in Ashton, and is now stopping with her sister, Mrs. Will Lenox, 309 N. Galena avenue.

SON BORN.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart of West Third street, are the happy parents of a baby boy, born Saturday.

Rebel Chiefs to Unite Their Forces At City of Chihuahua.

REPORT TEXAS IS INVADED

Two Men Said to Have Been Forcefully Taken Across Border by Mexicans—American Cowboys Fight Band of Insurrectos.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 5.—Gen. Pascual Orozco announced here that he would leave for Mexico City with an army of 5,000 men. He said he had arrived at an understanding with General Salazar and that the entire Vasquista army, as well as his own men, would be under his command. His intention, he said, is to upset President Madero, and he never will stop fighting until he has done it.

Rebels to Unite at Chihuahua.

With Insurrecto Troop Train, Gallego, Mex., March 5 (via El Paso, Tex.).—Col. Emilio Campa, at the head of the 800 Vasquistas from Juarez, brought the three sections of his train to a halt here and later exchanged messages by telegraph with Pascual Orozco, who announced that he was at the head of 600 insurrectos in the city of Chihuahua.

Orozco urged Campa to move at once into the city, but the latter seemed to wish to proceed with such caution that he would avoid possible traps. There were rumors in camp that Orozco might be wavering back to his old Madero allegiance.

Colonel Campa said that he might leave this point, which is 33 miles from Chihuahua, and approach the environs of the state capital, but that he would not move into the city until General Salazar, who remained at Juarez, arrived with 200 more men. Salazar is expected today.

Reports Texas Invaded.

Austin, Tex., March 5.—That Mexican military authorities crossed the international boundary at Brownsville, Tex., arrested Jose Garcia and Arturo Margain on Texas soil and forcibly removed the men across the border has been reported to Governor Colquitt by Capt. J. M. Fox, in charge of the detachment of Texas rangers stationed at Brownsville. Captain Fox has been instructed to report further and Governor Colquitt has asked President Taft to order an investigation.

Cowboys Fight Mexican Rebels.

El Paso, Tex., March 5.—Col. E. Z. Steever dispatched Lieutenant Hill of the Twenty-second infantry and a squad of soldiers to Columbus, N. M., to investigate a report that American cowboys and Mexican rebels clashed Saturday at Rancho La Palmas, 30 miles from Columbus, on the Mexican side. According to the report, which was transmitted to Colonel Steever for investigation by the customs officers, the horses of the Americans were killed and they retreated on foot to Columbus after killing or wounding several of the Mexicans. It is not known which side took the aggressive nor why the Americans were on the ranch.

Cattlemen who passed through Columbus on the way to the cattlemen's convention here say that Rancho La Palmas is owned by Americans and Englishmen, and that the Americans in the reported fight were employed on the ranch.

According to this source of information the Americans resisted when the Mexicans tried to commandeer horses from the ranch.

ROOSEVELT LEADS IN Y. M. C. A. BALLOTING

MORE THAN DOUBLES TAFT—BASEBALL MEN OF H. S. MEET TONIGHT.

The balloting which has been going on at the Y. M. C. A. for a week, closed Saturday night and the votes were counted. It was found that 172 ballots had been deposited in the ballot box, and they were distributed as follows:

Roosevelt .....	95
Taft .....	40
La Follette .....	9
Clark .....	9
Wilson .....	13

Baseball Meeting.

An important meeting of the baseball men of the high school will be held at the Y. M. C. A. this evening, and it is hoped that every prospective player will attend and get into the preliminary game.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

MARCH 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

You are possessed of will and reasoning power in a great measure. And know how to apply the lessons of experience, and delays and apparent defeat do not drive you back. You know how to hold your tongue. Your confidence is not often misplaced. You make friends but do not always retain them. You are close in money matters; pay your bills.

MARCH 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

You have much executive ability, and a keen, active mind. You see the relation of things to each other. You show good judgment and will not harness a bull and a mule together. You have a fair measure of self-reliance and while you may seek advice it does not follow that you always adopt it. You demand a reason for everything.

Calling Cards.

Engraved calling cards at this office.

Mrs. Will Smith Entertained.

Mrs. Will Smith entertained a few friends Sunday evening.

Unity Guild.

The Unity Guild of the People's church will have an all day meeting Thursday with Mrs. C. H. Stackpole.

Woman's Auxiliary.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their annual meeting Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. and a full attendance is urged.

Had Dance.

Friday evening 21 friends were entertained at the Adams home on the River road. Music and dancing were the diversions for the evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour and the guests all spent a delightful time.

Miscellaneous Shower.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reister on Chestnut avenue, Saturday, a large number of friends were entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of John Reister and Miss Anna Myers, who were married Sunday evening. Many beautiful gifts were presented the happy pair and a delightful evening was spent. A very dainty supper was served and at a late hour all departed for their homes with memories of a happy evening.

At Brown Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown of the Chicago road entertained a number of Dixon friends at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. Brown's birthday. The table was tastefully decorated in Killarney roses and ferns. The friends of Mr. Brown presented him with a handsome smoking set. The evening after dinner was devoted to cards and a delightful time was enjoyed by all and all the guests on departing wished Mr. Brown the happiness of living to a ripe old age and that he might live to enjoy many such birthday anniversaries.

All are cordially invited to hear Governor Deneen at the opera house Friday at 1 p. m. 553

FOOD & HEALTH DISEASE & DEATH

The man be spiritual his earthly tabernacle is matter. This matter, his body, is organized substance. For health this organized body requires natural vitalized food. The organized substance of the plant and animal is this natural food. Healthy active brains and bodies can not subsist upon inorganic minerals, drugs, waste matter, devalitized food, air and water for they are food poisons.

CAUSES OF DISEASE: And yet this is what you sick and weakly people are doing most of the time! Sad to say but fully 80 per cent of your foods have been rendered 'foodless' by 'doping' and unnatural cooking! I have a few free moments for those who wish to know why.

Scramble Tea.

Mrs. Fred Dimick will entertain a few friends at her home with a scramble tea this evening.

At Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jacobus entertained a few friends at dinner Sunday evening.

Chautauqua Circle.

The Chautauqua Circle will be entertained Saturday evening at the home of Miss Edna Nowell.

Kahoty Club.

The Kahoty club was entertained at the home of Mrs. John Laing this afternoon.

Returned From Visit.

Mrs. Phil N. Marks and daughter Rachel returned home last evening from Chicago and Whiting, Ind., where they have been visiting the past two weeks.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Emma McCleary, trained nurse, the daughter of J. C. McCleary of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of Palmyra, to Mr. Howe, board of trade man of Chicago. The McCleary family were very well known here.

Giving Luncheon.

Mrs. Blake and Miss Ingraham are today entertaining with a 1 o'clock luncheon for Mrs. John Brockville Martin of Bloomington, who arrived in Dixon yesterday for a short visit.

With Mrs. Keller.

The Current Topics club was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mark Keller with a musicale which was very much enjoyed. The program following was rendered by club members: Vocal solos by Misses Ruth Dysart and Mame Wright; readings by Mrs. Clarence Reid and Mrs. Mahlon Forsythe. After the program the hostess served very appetizing refreshments.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight there will be a special program at the Princess. Something everybody, old and young, should see. War Is On. Washington's army supported by French allies under Lafayette attack the British and put them to rout. 2000 people in the cast. Shown in a soul-stirring action. Two great battle scenes full of excitement. A story familiar to every school child in Hands Across the Sea in '76. Two great reels of pictures and a rip-roaring comedy entitled His New Wife.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Cliff Bailey Trio, barrel acrobats, were the most clever acrobats who have appeared at the Family in a long time. They are in the act every minute and something doing all the time. They are graceful and do some hair raising stunts. The picture shown at this theatre last evening entitled Brutus, was a wonderful portrayal of the stirring epoch during the time of Caesar's death, of the treachery of Brutus and his bravery withal; of the fine character of Mark Antony and the loyalty of the Romans. The scene of the battle of Philippi, once seen is not easily forgotten. These are the pictures which entertain, educate and elevate. The two performers in the other vaudeville act did not arrive in time for last evening's performance according to their contract and another act will be procured for this evening.

The KITCHEN CABINET

K NOW the true value of time; snatch, seize and enjoy every moment of it. No laziness, no procrastination; never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
—Earl of Chesterfield.

KITCHEN COMFORTS.

The kitchen is often the last room in the house to plan for or equip, when it should be the first consideration, for it is here that the large majority of women spend the greatest part of their time.

When it is possible to have the things we want, if our tastes are simple, a painted wall is good, for it can be cleaned and kept sanitary.

A small-sized kitchen is the model these days. We have graduated from the idea of the ancient kitchen, where one walked a day's journey getting the three meals a day.

A kitchen cabinet holding all the necessary cooking materials; a zinc-covered table, a good, well-placed sink high enough to wash dishes in without stooping (one may have words with the plumber before you get it high enough if you are an average woman in height, for they seem to have a deep-seated desire to place all sinks the same height, regardless of the woman who has it to use), and a sink-drawing board at the end, are all necessities.

One interesting housewife has a picture hung in her kitchen wall that is an inspiration to her. When washing dishes she can enjoy its beauties and its presence is a constant uplift.

We have passed the day of back-breaking ironing and the kitchen utensils may be as artistic in coloring as one's taste desires.

A small rocking chair is a great addition to the kitchen comforts, for one may often drop into it for a moment when waiting for a cake to be baked, or while preparing fruit or vegetables.

Linoleum on a soft wood floor is the easiest on the feet for a floor, and it is so easily kept clean. The floor should harmonize with the wall color, but be darker.

When ironing, place a folded rag under the feet and notice how much less tiring the day's work will be.

When we spend a little more time in planning and furnishing our kitchen and the maid's bedroom, we will perhaps have reduced the servant problem a little towards its lowest terms.

Nellie Maxwell.

PAPER BAGS IDEAL FOR INVALID COOKERY.

In invalid cookery the eye must be appealed to, as a dish that is attractive in appearance will be more apt to be tasted; and, tasted, it is up to the cook to make it so savory that not a crumb is left.

When preparing food for the invalid, more pains can be taken, as one dish may be more quickly prepared than one for a family.

Minc'd Chicken With Toast.—Finely mince the breast of a chicken, add a tablespoonful of cream, the yolk of an egg and a little salt. Lay in a greased paper bag with a small piece of toast. Seal and cook six minutes in a hot oven. Serve in the bag.

Chicken Tea.—Cup up a fowl, break the bones and add two tablespoonfuls of water, seal and place the bag on the rack in the oven. Allow forty-five minutes in a slow oven. Strain and serve.

In paper bag cookery not only is the natural flavor of every article of food preserved, but all undesirable flavors are kept out.

For invalid cookery this is a great point in its favor, as the delicate aroma and flavor of the white meats and those suitable for diet in convalescence are so easily dissipated by cooking.

It was one of our ancient wise men who said "that which pleases the palate nourishes." It is most important that the invalid eat that food which is best for building up and repairing waste.

Filleted Poultry.—Slice a carrot, turnip and an onion; add a little ham, a pinch of sugar and salt, and place in the bottom of a well-buttered bag. Slice the breast of a fowl, lay the slices on the prepared vegetables, sprinkle with melted butter, seal and cook six minutes in a slow oven. Dish the fillets, put the vegetables into a sieve or fruit press, press lightly and pour the gravy over the fillets.

Nellie Maxwell.

IS VERY COMMON DISEASE

Pyorrhea Alveolaris is Responsible for Loss of Many Otherwise Healthy Teeth.

Pyorrhea Alveolaris (Riggs' Disease) is a disease that is very common among adults, being responsible for the loss of many otherwise healthy teeth, and the indirect cause of not a few ills more or less seriously affecting the general health. It attacks the tissues supporting the teeth, involving the bony socket and gums, and is characterized by loosening of the teeth, inflammation and recession of the gums and in most instances a discharge of pus from around the affected teeth. In its early stages there is little to attract the attention of the patient. It is only when the disease is well advanced that the teeth become loose and painful. There is probably no filthier disease occurring in the mouth, encouraging as it does the growth of pus producing germs, permitting the lodgment of food between the loosened teeth and discharging its purulent matter into the mouth with every act of mastication; a condition which means not only an unclean and unhealthy mouth with ultimate loss of the teeth, but eventual impairment of the health.

The chronic abscess is another potent factor in the production of unsanitary mouths, a disease which is common to all ages. It is, with rare exceptions, caused by a neglect to properly care for a decaying tooth in its early stages, with a result that the pulp (nerve) becomes involved; followed by death of the tooth. If further neglected, infection takes place, attended in most instances by acute pain, swelling of the face, and eventual discharge of pus, usually within the mouth. These symptoms last two or three days, are accompanied by a rise of temperature, loss of appetite, digestive disturbances, etc. With the discharge of pus the acute symptoms subside. Occasionally this occurs without pain, but in both instances the result is the same, namely, a chronic abscess, which without proper treatment will continue to discharge. As this discharge is usually within the mouth, it, with the organisms accompanying it, finds its way into the stomach to be resorbed into the circulation. Treatment consists in the removal of the dead tooth pulp, disinfection of the root and filling of the tooth. Such abscesses are very common among children as a result of the decay of their temporary molars, eight of which are not replaced by their permanent successors until the twelfth year. In their chronic form abscesses cause little or no pain; the discharge at any one time is small and their presence is viewed with unconcern. As a result they are allowed to remain year after year, discharging their poisonous products into the mouth, being only one of several agencies which contribute to its uncleanness.

AFFECTS HYGIENE OF MOUTH

Decay of Teeth Has Disastrous Influence Upon the General Health.

Of all the factors which contribute to the uncleanness of the mouth, the most common and probably the most disastrous in its influence upon the hygiene of the mouth, is decay of the teeth. This is a disease brought about through the agency of germs which possess the property of converting starchy foods, sugar, etc., into acids. It is these acids which slowly dissolve out the inorganic portion of the enamel, after which it is only a question of time, unless cared for, when the pulp or "nerve" of the tooth becomes involved, followed by pain, death of the pulp and ultimate loss of the tooth. The rapidity with which this is accomplished will depend largely upon the cleanliness or uncleanness of the mouth, and the resistance which the teeth or body as a whole, offers to the agents of decay. As a rule, the process is a comparatively slow one. An aching tooth does not spring into being in a day, and means nothing less than negligence long continued.

While decay of the teeth is not limited to any age, it is, nevertheless, most common in childhood, its most active period being between the ages of six and twenty. Because it makes its appearance so early in life, the temporary teeth are often involved, especially the molars, which are too often regarded by the parent as of little value because they are temporary teeth. Let it be said with all possible emphasis that no greater mistake could be made, for the decay of these teeth means not only an unclean and diseased mouth at a critical period in the life of the child, but it means inevitable irregularity of the permanent teeth. Every effort should therefore be made to preserve these teeth against decay, because more than half of them should remain in the mouth until the child is twelve years of age. This should be done not only to insure against pain and uncleanness, but for the purpose of providing the developing child with an efficient masticating apparatus. Decaying teeth render thorough mastication impossible and establishes early in life the habit of bolting the food. Moreover, the filth which is inseparable from decaying teeth is mixed with the food and carried into the stomach as a further tax upon the digestive apparatus. In a word, decaying teeth, especially in the mouth of a child, means poor nutrition, which in turn means poor health and a low order of efficiency.

MULEY HAFID GOES HUNTING

Sultan of Morocco Uses the Telephone, Wireless and Acetylene During Day's Sport.

Muley Hafid, Sultan of Morocco, has evidently made up his mind to make the best of things and have as good a time as he can.

A short time ago he expressed the desire to go partridge and rabbit hunting. To go out without an army would have been impossible to him a few months ago, before the French occupation of Fez. But he started out one morning with a small escort, and had good luck at hunting, while no rebellious tribesmen took a shot at him.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon he found a tent set up and luncheon served. On the way home he stopped at a French fort, used the telephone to call up his palace at Fez and saw for the first time wireless telegraph in operation.

After many trials the operator succeeded in getting into communication with the station on the Eiffel Tower, and the Sultan sent a message to his minister in Paris, El Mekri.

Acetylene lamps were used to light his entry into Fez, and the Sultan was as pleased over the day's sport as a child with a new toy.

Heroism of Women.

It is painful to note that few Carnegie medals go to women. One might infer from this that heroism is exclusively a male characteristic, comments the Philadelphia Inquirer. Fortunately, it isn't so. As a fact most women have to be heroes to get through this world at all. They do things right along which would make a man famous. Some of them exhibit constant heroism by living with men who ought to be in jail or in the tomb. But, aside from such considerations, women have done their share in every branch of heroic effort so far as opportunities opened.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World —Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

DEMENTTOWN

Call the next case.

There'll be no saloon on the corner.

But what will be doing when the council starts that "investigation" of who holds the leases and owns the fixtures for the rest of the dram shops? We are c2k.

Still, we don't anticipate any big rush on the part of the august city council in making that investigation.

We have been requested to ask: If town lots are selling low, will it do any good to call on Dr. Aydelotte? We don't know. Would it?

Fine chance to get any dope with everybody talking about the city council.

Don't all get excited. That big merger isn't completed yet, and there is a possibility that as a result of misplaced confidence by the officers, it may never be.

Our friend Jeemes Allen talks entertainingly about the council and their doings. Jeemes is an orator, too.

No 'lasses.

The story is told of a local colored man whose brother, coming from Chicago, attempted to educate him to the proper use of English. Finally, driven to desperation, when the fellow in asking for syrup said "lasses" the educated one remonstrated with his ignorant kin. "Sam," he said, "don't say 'lasses, say molasses."

"Now look a-heah," the hungry one replied "why in the world should I say mo' 'lasses, when I ha'n't had no 'lasses yit?"

The Washington Letter.

Washington, Meh. 4.—It is pleasing to notice how interested the senators are in each other's speeches. When a senator gets up to make a speech it seems very peculiar that every other senator suddenly has business somewhere else. Every senator has his own favorite orator, whom he will remain to hear, but it is only one—himself. When anybody else speaks he goes out to lunch. Going out to lunch is about the best thing the average senator does.

A senator can go out to lunch at any moment and stay long enough to eat a dozen square meals. When there is something important on they go and eat lunch, and when there is nothing at all on they go to lunch, and it is safe to say that when Gabriel sounds his final warning note it will find one senator making a speech and the rest of 'em down in the lunch room.

The senator who is making the speech is not embarrassed in the least. He will spout as long as the presiding officer and the stenographer will stand for it—so he's always sure of an audience of 2 anyway. Everything he says goes into the Congressional Record, and copies of it go back home to the faithful constituents. Hence the senator doesn't care if the rest of the bunch stay and listen or not. He is talking to posterity and posterity will take time enough from its feasting to read.

Distressing error in obituary notice in the Faribault (Minn.) Democrat: "He is survived by a widow, one son and two doughnuts." (The compositor is running yet.)

All are cordially invited to hear Governor Deneen at the opera house Friday at 1 p. m.

How She Got Fresh Eggs.

A young lady living in a small city had impaired her health by too confining work in a city office. Her physician ordered her to a sanitarium for rest and rebuilding, and when she returned to work he instructed her to eat four fresh laid eggs daily; two eggs for breakfast and the others raw in milk. Finding it difficult to obtain dependably fresh eggs she persuaded her mother to permit her having a small flock in the home yard. A portable house was purchased and fifteen pullets installed in it. A small brother was paid ten cents a week to feed and care for the flock, two bags of ready-mixed food were bought and the result of the venture was not only all the eggs the young lady needed and a supply for the family, but there was a surplus which found a ready market at the corner drug store, bringing ten cents a dozen above the market price.

NATIONAL CIVIC BODY IN SESSION

Cardinal Gibbons Presides and President Taft Makes Opening Address.

THIRTY STATES REPRESENTED

Today's Meeting of Federation Given Over to Discussion of Relation of Employer to Employee—Prominent Men Speak.

Washington, March 5.—With Cardinal Gibbons presiding and President Taft making the opening speech, the twelfth annual meeting of the National Civic Federation was opened here today. Delegates appointed by the governors of 30 states together with the members of the arbitration boards of the various states are present and will participate in the discussions.

Today's session was given over to a discussion of the relation of the employer to the employee. Prominent among the speakers were: Martin A. Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart, Commissioner of New York's street cleaning department, Congressman Lloyd, Samuel Gompers and Dr. Charles P. Neill.

Following the opening address of President Taft, Seth Low, president of the National Civic Federation, delivered his annual address.

Workmen's Compensation. Tomorrow, "Workmen's Compensation and the Prevention of Industrial Accidents" and "Pensions for Public and Private Employees" will be the subjects of discussion. Charles Nager, secretary of commerce and labor, will preside at the morning session and Franklin McVeagh, secretary of the treasury, will preside in the afternoon.

The sessions will close Thursday with a consideration and analysis of the 16,000 replies to the federation's "Questionnaire on Trusts" and its proposed "Act to Supplement the Sherman Anti-Trust Law" based thereon.

COAL CONFERENCE TODAY

Operators and Miners Meet in Chicago—May Avert Strike.

Chicago, March 5.—Coal operators and miners of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois met at the Great Northern hotel today to decide on a date for a joint conference of the scale committees to consider the wages for next year. The present agreement expires March 31 and unless a new one is made or an agreement reached to continue work pending negotiations the 350,000 union miners in the United States will not return to work April 1.

RICHESON NEARS INSANITY

Pastor-Slayer, a Mental Wreck, Wants to See Girl for Whom He Killed.

MORE U. S. TROOPS READY FOR CHINA

Soldiers at Manila Placed at Order of Minister Calhoun.

500 ARE KILLED IN RIOTS

Mutineers, Awed by Foreign Soldiers, Listen to Yuan's Son's Plea for Peace—Tientsin Quieted by Foreigners.

Washington, March 5.—The state and war departments arranged for two battalions more of the United States troops to be available for protecting American and other foreign interests in Peking and Tientsin. The United States Minister Calhoun in Peking, has been notified that he may have 700 additional troops by telegraphing to Manila, where the mandarin has been ordered to hold the men at the disposal of the diplomat. Minister Calhoun has been instructed to confer with the representatives of the other government at Peking, and if the general opinion is to the effect that the extra troops are needed, he is at liberty to telegraph his order for them to Manila.

Yuan's Son in Plea to Troops. Peking, March 5.—The son of President Yuan Shi Kai made an impassioned plea to his father's soldiers, begging them not to cause the ruin of the republic.

The men wept and said they feared that Yuan's going south would cause their disbandment and starvation. They declared that the disorder was meant as a protest against their chief's going away and that they would remain faithful hereafter.

Yuan Shi Kai's official statement, issued here, places the number killed during the mutiny here at 500. The property loss will amount to more than $14,000,000.

Peking is quieter. The parade of the international troops, through the main streets of the city causes a difference of opinion among leading foreigners here. Some think it may lead to anti-foreign demonstrations in the interior owing to the possible spread of false rumors that Peking has been taken by foreigners. Others think that a show of force was necessary and that it will check any attempt on the legations.

Tientsin Quieted by Foreigners.

Tientsin, March 5.—Quiet prevailed in all parts of the city. The measures taken by the foreign consuls and commanders of the troops of various nations evidently have intimidated the rioting element and the mutinous soldiery.

START SUGAR TRUST TRIAL

Magnates Face Charges of Criminal Conspiracy in Gotham Today.

New York, March 5.—The trial of the big sugar magnates under indictment was begun in the criminal branch of the United States district court here today. The trial will be by jury. The persons who faced the charge of criminal conspiracy to restrain interstate trade and commerce within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law were John E. Parsons, one of the oldest lawyers in the United States and a leader in the American bar; Washington B. Thomas, who succeeded Henry O. Havemeyer as the head of the sugar trust; Arthur Donner, George H. Frazier and John Mayer, directors of the corporation, and Thomas B. Harned, a Philadelphia lawyer.

OFFICIALS ARREST FAKER

Head of "Sun Worshipers" Seized for Alleged Abuse of Mails.

Chicago, March 5.—Dr. Osman Zardusht Hanish, prince of Adusht, who before his elevation to the head of the "Sun Worshipers" bore the name of Hennessey, was arrested here in a spectacular raid by government agents on his Madanzan temple at 2015-2018 Lake Park avenue. Clad in his royal robes of purple and gold the "Prince of Adusht" was found hiding in a coal bin beneath the "mystery of mysteries" shrine after a three-hour search.

MILL CHILDREN'S TALE

Boys and Girls of Lawrence Strikers in Washington.

Tell of Long, Hard Work and Starvation at Home—Millitia as Bad as Cossacks.

Washington, March 5.—Robbed of their childhood by privation and toil, precocious and experienced beyond their years, little girl and boy strikers told pitiful stories of blighted lives at the looms in Lawrence before the house committee on rules here. Working from seven o'clock in the morning until five at night at pay ranging from $2 to $4 a week, these child employees of the high tariff protected textile trust are taxed in the mills even for the water they drink.

Even the Cossacks in Russia are not more brutal than the police and militia who drove women and children about the streets of Lawrence and refused to permit them to leave the city, according to the witnesses.

So enraged are Russian subjects who fled to Lawrence in search of liberty from the domains of the czar that they threaten to appeal to the Russian ambassador in Washington for protection against the slavery of mill owners in America.

Hearings are being held by the house committee on rules to ascertain whether or not in its belief the interstate commerce laws, which guarantee to every man and woman the right to travel from state to state, is being violated by the authorities at Lawrence and whether an investigation by congress is justified.

DARROW HIT BY FRANKLIN

Swears Labor Attorney Gave Him Cash for Bribery.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—"Did you receive a certain sum of money from Clarence S. Darrow for the purpose of bribing George N. Lockwood and Robert F. Bain, prospective jurors?"

"I did." This was the question propounded by Assistant District Attorney W. J. Ford to Bert H. Franklin, confessed briber of McNamara jurors, before the grand jury which indicted Clarence S. Darrow. It was upon this slender testimony that the grand jury returned an indictment charging the famous labor attorney with bribing McNamara jurors.

OKLAHOMA FOR ROOSEVELT

Has Two Delegates to State Convention to Taft's One.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 5.—Returns from precinct conventions received up to a late hour show that 237 delegates to the Oklahoma Republican state convention are instructed for Roosevelt, and 113 instructed for Taft. It appears that George A. Priestly of Bartlesville, a Roosevelt supporter, is certain of election as national committeeman.

PATERSON STRIKE ENDS

Broad Silk Weavers Return to Work With More Pay.

Paterson, N. J., March 5.—The strike of the broad silk weavers came to a close here when fully 1,500 of the strikers returned to their looms following the signing of the increased wage schedules by their employers. Fully three-fourths of the 120 manufacturers who held out against the union have already signed.

Lawrence Strikers Prepare for War.

Lawrence, Mass., March 5.—In anticipation of a crucial day in the labor troubles here, the strikers increased their force of pickets from 500 to 700 today. The entire police force of the city reported at six o'clock this morning ready to prevent any clashes.

COMMITTEE O. K.'S PITNEY

Senate Body Orders Favorable Report on Supreme Court Nominee.

Washington, March 5.—The senate judiciary committee has ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey to be associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter. Free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

STRIKE HITS 5,000,000

British Coal War Causing Much Suffering in Empire.

Railroads Suspend Service—Fish Supply Endangered—Hospitals Without Fuel—Theaters Affected.

London, March 5.—Five million men, women and children, counting men actually unemployed and those dependent upon them, are now believed to be directly affected by the coal strike.

Call is already being made upon every citizen for the strictest economy. The public is being warned to restrict fires, conserve coal consumption in cooking, be sparing in gas, electric light and water, and discontinue unnecessary traveling.

The situation in the railway world is critical. Hundreds of passenger trains have been suspended, stations are being closed, thousands of men thrown out of employment and freight and express traffic restricted to the necessities of life. In the London suburbs entire services are shut down.

It is now likely that a shortage of the fish supply will result, as the carrying companies are reducing the number of vessels from Yarmouth, Hull and elsewhere to the London market. Also it will soon be impossible to get out of England for the continent. The Folkestone-Boulogne channel service has been suspended and the last Southampton-St. Malo boat has sailed.

Provincial theaters are all affected and touring companies are being brought into London as swiftly as possible.

The coal supply of nearly every hospital is almost exhausted, and as the weather is still cold this feature is causing great anxiety.

HARD COAL STRIKE LIKELY

Anthracite Operators to Answer Union's Demands in Gotham Today.

New York, March 5.—The ultimatum of the anthracite coal operators to the demands of the union will be presented at a conference to be held here this afternoon and, in the judgment of men conversant with the situation, the miners are expected to reject every proposition. If they are not rejected they will be so modified, it is asserted, that they will be unacceptable to the mine workers. In any event a strike seems extremely probable.

HINTS CAMPAIGN COERCION

Bristow Asks Senate to Investigate Reports as to Postmasters.

Washington, March 5.—A thorough investigation to ascertain whether postmasters are being coerced in the interest of any presidential candidate is contemplated in a resolution introduced here by Senator Bristow of Kansas, a progressive Republican.

FASTEST TRAIN IN WRECK

New York-Chicago 18-Hour Flyer's Engines Jump Track.

Bucyrus, O., March 5.—Both engines, the baggage car and a combination coach of the 18-hour New York-Chicago Pennsylvania special left the rails four miles west of here, after the breaking of a wheel on the second engine's tender. Nobody was injured.

In Cabinet for 15 Years.

Washington, March 5.—James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, has broken all records for continuous service in presidential cabinets. He has served fifteen years.

Witness Kills Self in Jail.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 5.—Harry Collier, held in jail as a witness in a murder case, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor.

Doctor Learns He Was Wrong.

Evansville, Ind., March 5.—Several days ago when an epidemic of smallpox broke out at Winslow, Dr. John Miller said the disease was not smallpox. Doctor Miller has been removed to the pesthouse with a well-developed case of smallpox.

Gives Nebraska Another Diocese.

Washington, March 5.—The papal legation was advised from Rome that the diocese of Omaha, Neb., had been divided and a new diocese created, with the episcopal residence at Kearney, Neb. A bishop will be appointed later.

Here's Some Important News for Men Who are Growing Bald

People who have taken our word for it that PARISIAN SAGE is the real hair grower, beautifier and dandruff cure have never been disappointed. Here's the word of a person who took our word.

"I have been using PARISIAN SAGE about a year. When I began to use it I had only a light 'fuzz' on my head. Now I have a good thick growth, and it is growing thicker and longer right along. Many people don't believe it can be done, but I know from my own experience with PARISIAN SAGE that it can; I recommend it in the fullest confidence—Gaines Brown, 708 North Fillmore St., Maryville, Mo.

SHOOT AT ROTHSCHILD

Assassin Attempts Life of Famous London Financier.

Detective Wounded in Many Places as Bandit Fires on Banker Leaving His Office.

London, March 5.—An attempt to shoot Leopold Rothschild was made by a man here as Mr. Rothschild was entering a motor car in front of the bank in St. Swithin's lane in the city of London. Mr. Rothschild was not hit by the bullet. The man apparently had been lying in wait for him.

As soon as he saw the banker he drew a revolver and fired three times. A detective standing on the opposite side of the lane was struck in the mouth, neck and chest, and the windows of the automobile were smashed. The assailant was arrested.

Leopold Rothschild is the third son of Baron Lionel Rothschild and was born in 1845. He is a deputy lieutenant, justice of the peace and a commander of the Royal Victorian order. He married Marie Perugia of Trieste in 1881. He has three sons. He has residences in Hamilton place, London, and at Newmarket and Acton.

WILL LECTURE ON PANAMA CANAL

JOHN HOLLAND, WHO WORKED IN PANAMA, WILL SPEAK ON INTERESTING SUBJECT, METHODIST CHURCH.

The second of the free lectures to be given in the Methodist church will take place Thursday evening. The subject is to be Panama and The Panama Canal. Mr. John W. Holland, who was officially connected with the work there for one year, making his home on the crest of Culabra Cut, is the lecturer. A large number of stereopticon views will be used to illustrate the subject.

Mr. Holland has a wide reputation as a public speaker and his acquaintance with the big endeavor that the government is making will make this one of the most profitable entertainments of the course.

The canal is 50 miles long, will cost $375,000,000, and has at work upon it an average force of about 39,000 men. It is surely a "big subject."

The lecture will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. No charge for admission and no collection.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HARTSELL HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of Mrs. D. K. Hartsell, who died Saturday morning, was held yesterday at her home in Nachusa, and the officers of the Dixon W. R. C. assisted in the burial rites, the ritual of the order being used. Mrs. Hartsell was married to Mr. Hartsell in Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 9, 1854, and had she lived until the coming October they would have celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary. She was a faithful member of the Lutheran church and her presence in the services of the church will be missed. She is survived by two sons and two daughters and her husband. The daughters are Mrs. Anna Ayres of Chicago and Miss Ella Hartsell of Saskatoon, Can., the sons being Henry of Amboy and Frank of London, Ore. The latter could not attend the funeral.

Hundredth Anniversary

The very remarkable event of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Grandma Palmer was observed by the gathering of numerous relatives and many friends at the old home in Oak Ridge, in the town of Pine Creek Wednesday, February 28, 1912.

Mrs. Palmer's children numbered 5, 22 grand children, 38 great grand-children, and 4 great, great grand children.

Following are some extracts from the interesting historical sketch delivered Wednesday the 28th, after the sumptuous dinner had been disposed of.

"One hundred years ago today in the quaint old colonial town of Pomfret, in the state of Vermont, a daughter was born to Henry and Mary Hayden. They named her Serepta, and there near the home of the Green Mountain Boys, she grew to young womanhood. We are with her here today, and know her and love her as Grandma Palmer. Henry Hayden was a soldier in the war of 1812, and gave his life for his country, leaving a widow and ten children, of which Grandma Palmer is the youngest.

She was left without that strong, protecting care of a father, and being the youngest of a family of ten children left with a widowed mother, she could not receive the attention she otherwise would have received.

In 1833, at Pomfret, she was united in marriage with Irvin Palmer, a son of one of the leading families of New England, and in 1839 they came overland with great difficulty, to Illinois, and in which they had many harrowing experiences, and settled at Grand Detour, then one of the most thrifty towns in the west. Here they resided for two years and then came to Oak Ridge and entered this homestead where she has continued to reside for seventy-one years without any change in location. Grandma's long life at this home was made pleasant by her remarkable husband, who departed this life her at the old homestead, ten years ago this spring, at the advanced age of ninety-three years.

Grandfather Palmer was a model husband. A man whose word was as good as his note and his note was as good as his country's bond. He was never led by sham reform. Such was the man Grandma Palmer had for a companion in this long journey of life.

These pioneers reared a family of seven children, five sons and two daughters: Mrs. Ellen Price, residing at Salina, in the state of Kansas; Lucien resides at Kansas City, Missouri; Mrs. John H. Mumma, resides at Grand Detour; Frank and Ruel whose residences are at the old homestead, and Irvin and George deceased.

During the Civil War three sons and a son-in-law packed their knapsacks and took their departure from this Oak Ridge home to the southland, to fight their country's battles. Irvin, namesake of his father, was slain, and today he sleeps in an unmarked grave on the battle field of Bentonville.

"It is fitting that I should mention that many years ago Grandma's niece Emma Abbott, resided here at Oak Ridge, and when a barefoot lass, played in Grandma's dooryard. Emma was ambitious. She had no financial means but she persuaded her father to go with her and from here they walked to Chicago, where Emma obtained an introduction to the noted Mrs. Kellogg, who assisted her, and Emma began to climb, until she thrilled the entire world with her sweet song. At the time of Emma Abbott's death, when she was yet a young woman, if she was not the greatest, she stood easily in the front ranks of the world's great artists.

Among the things that no doubt contributed to Grandma's long life was the fact that she was always a home woman, and enjoyed regular work. Only the other day she said to me:

"Oh, if I could only work instead of sitting here studying so much."

"I think," she said, "One of the greatest blessings that God has put in the world is work."

"Grandma was not anxious to climb the ladder of human existence to the very topmost rung, for she has seen much of the sorrow of this world. Frail in body yet strong in determination, she never became despondent, even that stripping of her home when the life of our country was in danger did not cause her to lose hope. Today she greets you with a smile and despair is nowhere written upon her countenance. During this long, cold winter, one of her neighbors has visited her often. A few days ago upon departing, Grandma said to her: 'Come over whenever you can and we will have another laugh together.'"

WAR IS COSTING ITALY MUCH

Spending Vast Sums in Cannonading at Nothing More Vulnerable Than Desert Sands.

The correspondent of the London Daily Express who is now with the Turkish forces in Tripoli says that the Turks are hoping much from the cost of the war to Italy. The war is costing Turkey nothing, but the Italians are spending vast sums in incessant cannonading at nothing more vulnerable than the desert sands. The correspondent says that there are Italian prisoners in the hands of the Turks and that they are well treated, and especially the wounded. He then adds: "The Turkish doctors have other patients, too. I was in one of the medical tents this morning, and there entered a muffled little figure in the dress of an Arab girl. Hiding her face, she crouched on the floor, and the doctor, removing bandages and pads, showed me a ghastly cavity in the poor little creature's shoulder. An Italian bullet had entered—from behind!—and had passed through, making a dreadful wound. I questioned her, and the child, still muffling her face in her striped robe, told me how the Christian soldiers broke into her father's house and killed her mother and sister, and how she, being near the door, had run out into the street. Some of the soldiers followed her to the door, and stood there firing at her as she ran down the street; and 'At last,' said she, 'one of those Christians shot me as you see, here in the shoulder, and I fell down.'"

Appeal to National Pride.

The Italian wrestler Bruggio was proceeding cautiously, says a writer in the Chicago Evening Post. He was feeling his opponent out, stalling him off with various pokes and not showing that daring in attack that the crowd likes. Most of them were silent, but one adviser, seated far away, kept yelling to him to "take a chance." As this seemed to make no impression with repetition, he shouted finally: "Take a chance, you wop lobster. Columbus took a chance."

JUST TRY A TEN CENT BOX OF CASCARETS

Insures You for Months Against a Sick, Headache, Biliousness, Constipation or a Bad Stomach.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passage way through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermented food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

SHOW GIRLS ATTACH BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS

Two ladies of the Oscar Cook stock company, which played at the opera house last week, caused the management of the company considerable trouble Saturday evening by attaching the box office receipts after they had been discharged by the manager. The ladies claimed considerable back pay, which resulted in the attachment. The matter was settled at a conference Sunday morning.

SHIP GETS STRANGE ORDER

Obeys Mysterious Message on Slate and Rescues People From Sinking Vessel.

Robert Dale Owen is our authority for the following story:

"The mate of a bark which was sailing southwestwards across the banks of Newfoundland was in the cabin working out the vessel's course when he noticed a man sitting at the other end of the table busy writing on a slate. Thinking it was the captain, he paid no further attention, but presently, looking up from his calculation, he saw the man suddenly disappear.

"Startled, he went across, picked up the slate, and found written on it, 'Steer to the northwest.'

"He called the captain. The writing was certainly not that of any of the crew, and eventually it was decided to obey the strange order. The vessel was put in a nor-westerly course and a man stationed at the masthead to keep a sharp lookout.

"In a few hours they sighted ice, and amongst it, in an almost sinking condition, a big ship. They reached her just in time to save her people. Among them was a passenger whom the mate recognized as the stranger who had written on the slate.

According to the other passengers, this man had been in a deep sleep or trance at the hour at which the incident had taken place."

MAUDE STEVENS CONCERT

WAS VERY GOOD

The concert given by the Maude Stevens Concert company at the opera house last evening, the last of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course, was a decidedly pleasurable affair and the large audience enjoyed fully the readings of Miss Stevens and the musical work of her assistants. The course has been excellent in every way and it is gratifying to know that it was a success financially.

MRS. SILLS FUNERAL

HELD SUNDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Sils was held Sunday afternoon at her home, Rev. Shaw officiating. Interment was at Oakwood cemetery and a large number of friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

The deceased was born at Allentown, Pa., May 29, 1834, and has resided in this vicinity about 16 years. She is survived by two sons and a daughter, to whom many friends extend sincerest condolence.

To Every Woman Who Wishes to Know "What's What" In Style

Our selections of coats, suits and skirts for spring wear are arriving daily and the showing is already large enough to give you a good "line" on the approved fashions for the approaching season.

Prominent in the collection are many coats and suits bearing the Wooltex label, a label that has become the recognized seal of authority in American fashions for women.

Among these superb garments are exact copies of styles created in Paris by Poiret, Drecoll, Paguin, Worth, Callot. Others are adaptations of Paris styles. Still others are original and exclusive Wooltex creations—for the Wooltex style staff includes several of the best designers in America.

New Materials are many, but serge still holds its place in favor. There are several new colors, but no tendency is shown to dislodge the old-time blues, grays, and browns. In trimming the bright colors and white are much used.

The lines of jackets and skirts present many changes, but these are easier to show than to describe.

AMBOY HAPPENINGS OF TIMELY INTEREST

CHRONICLE OF NEWS FROM THE HUSTLING CITY—WHAT FOLKS ARE DOING IN THAT VICINITY.

The Woman's club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Bourne at her residence on East Main street. The program was a very interesting one. The chief feature was a paper on Scandinavians in the United States, which was prepared by Miss Josephine Egan, and in her absence read by Mrs. Jacobs. There was a reading by Mrs. Wooster, and three musical selections, a vocal solo by Miss Hazel Mikeell, and two piano solos by Miss Stella Klein.

The next meeting will be on March 18, with Mrs. Doty.

The G. A. R. Post held its regular meeting Saturday afternoon, March 2, in G. A. R. hall.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends, Jimmy was found and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so. His life is considered a huge joke, except to himself. He asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knygates; they live together a year and are divorced.

CHAPTER II.—Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katherine McNair, who every one calls Kit; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours and visit him and his friends. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selina and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He next tells to her of his divorce. As he is opposed to the Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, but Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finally prevailed upon to act the part.

CHAPTER III.—Aunt Selina arrives and the deception works out as planned, as she had never seen Jim's wife.

CHAPTER IV.—Jim's Jap servant is taken ill, his face is covered with spots. Bella, Jimmy's divorced wife enters the house and asks Kit who is being taken away in the ambulance, she insists it is Jim. Kit tells her Jim is well and is in the house. Bella tells Kit it wasn't him she wanted to see, but Takahiro, the Jap servant, as she wished to secure his services. Harbison steps out on the porch and discovers a man taking a card on the door. He demands an explanation. The man points to the card and he sees the word smallpox printed on it. The man is an officer from the board of health and tells him the house is under quarantine and that the guests will have to stay until the quarantine is lifted.

CHAPTER V.—The guests suddenly realize their predicament, the women shed tears, the men consider it a good joke.

CHAPTER VI.—Harbison pleads with Kit to let him see the real situation of things. She tells him of Bella's incarceration in the basement.

CHAPTER VII.—The all important question arises as to who is to prepare the meals and perform the duties of the household. Harbison finally solves the matter. He writes out slips containing the various duties of the household, each one is assigned to his or her duties.

CHAPTER VIII.—After the lifting of the quarantine several letters written by the guests were found in the apartment. One is addressed to Henry Llewellyn, Union Nitrate Company, Louque, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of the incarceration, also of his situation for Mrs. Wilson.

CHAPTER IX.—Harbison attempts to pick up one quarrel after the women between Kit and Jimmy. Aunt Selina is taken ill with a gripe. Betty acts as nurse.

CHAPTER X.—Harbison finds Kit sulking on the roof. She tells him that Jim has been treating her outrageously. Harbison fully believing that she is Mrs. Wilson tells her that he has been treating her things she is saying about her husband. Kit starts downstairs, when suddenly she is in the arms of a man who kisses her several times. She believes that Harbison is the one who did it and is humiliated.

CHAPTER XI.

I Make a Discovery.

Really, I have left Aunt Selina rather out of it, but she was important as a cause, not as a result; at least at first. She came out strong later. I believe she was a very nice old woman, with strong likes and prejudices, which she was perfectly willing to pay for. At least, I only presume she had likes; I know she had prejudices.

Nobody ever understood why Bella consented to take Betty's place with Aunt Selina. As for me, I was too much engrossed with my own affairs to pay the invalid much attention. Once or twice during the day I had stopped in to see her, and had been received frigidly and with marked disapproval. I was in disgrace, of course, after the scene in the dining room the night before. I had stood like a naughty child, just inside the door, and replied meekly when she said the pillows were overstuffed, and why didn't I have the linen slips rinsed in starch water? She laid the blame of her illness on me, as I have said before, and she made Jim read to her in the afternoon from a book she carried with her, "Coals of Fire on the Domestic Hearth," marking places for me to read.

She sent for me that night, just as I had taken off my gown; so I threw on a dressing gown and went in. To my horror, Jim was already there. At a gesture from Aunt Selina, he closed the door into the hall and tiptoed back beside the bed, where he sat staring at the figures on the silk comfort.

Aunt Selina's first words were: "Where's that flibberty-gibbet?" Jim looked at me.

"She must mean Betty," I explained. "She has gone to bed, I think."

"Don't—let—her—in—this—room—again," she said, with awful emphasis. "She is an infamous creature."

"Oh, come now, Aunt Selina," Jim broke in; "she's foolish, perhaps, but she's a nice little thing." Aunt Selina's face was a curious study. Then she raised herself on her elbow, and taking a flat chamois-skin bag from under her pillow, held it out.

"My cameo bracelet," she said solemnly; "my cufflinks with gold rims and storks painted on china in the middle; my watch, that has put me to bed and got me up for forty years, and my money—$510.40!—taken with the doors locked under my nose." Which was ambiguous, but forcible.

"But, good gracious, Miss Car—Aunt Selina!" I exclaimed, "you don't think Betty Mercer took those things?"

"Have you made up?" she demanded, looking from one to the other of us. "Bella, don't tell me you still persist in that nonsense."

"What nonsense?" I asked, getting ready to run.

"That you do not love him."

"Him?"

"James," she snapped irritably. "Do you suppose I mean the policeman?" I looked over at Jimmy. She had got me by the hand, and Jimmy was making frantic gestures to tell her the whole thing and be done with it. But I had gone too far. The mill of the gods had crushed me already, and I didn't propose to be drawn out hideously mangled and held up as an example for the next two or three weeks, although it was clear enough that Aunt Selina disapproved of me thoroughly, and would have been glad enough to find that no tie save the board of health held us together. And then Bella came in, and you wouldn't have known her. She had put on a straight white woolen wrapper, and she had her hair in two long braids down her back. She looked like a nice wide-eyed little girl in her teens, and she had some lobster salad and a glass of port on a tray. When she saw the situation she put the things down and had the nastiness to stay and listen.

"I'm not blind," Aunt Selina said, with one eye on the tray. "You two silly children adore each other; I saw some things last night."

Bella took a step forward; then she stopped and shrugged her shoulders. Jim was purple.

"I saw you kiss her in the dining room, remember that!" Aunt Selina went on, giving the screw another turn.

It was Bella's turn to be excited. She gave me an awful stare, then she fixed her eyes on Jim.

"Besides," Aunt Selina went on, "you told me today that you loved her. Don't deny it, James."

Bella couldn't keep quiet another instant. She came over and stood at the foot of the bed.

"Please don't excite yourself, dear Miss Caruthers," she said, in a voice like ice. "Every one knows that she loves her; he simply overflows with it. It—it is quite a by-word among their friends. They have been sitting together in a corner all evening."

"Yes, that was what she said; when I had not spoken to Jimmy the whole time in the den. Bella was catfish, and she was jealous, too. I turned on my heel and went to the door; then I turned to her, with my hand on the knob."

"You have been misinformed," I said coldly. "You can not possibly know, having spent three hours in a corner yourself—with Mr. Harbison." I abhor jealousy in a woman.

Well, Aunt Selina ate all the lobster salad, and drank the port after Bella had told her it was beef, iron and wine, and she slept all night, and I knub.

son and the scene on the roof, with my flippancy; and the result of that flippancy—the man on the stairs, the arms that held me, the terrible kisses that had scorched my lips—it was awful! And then the absurd situation across Aunt Selina's bed, and Bella's face! Oh, it was all so ridiculous—my having thought that the Harbison man was a gentleman, and finding him a cad, and worse. It was excruciatingly funny. I quite got a headache from laughing; indeed I laughed until I found I was crying, and then I knew I was going to have an attack of strangulated emotion, called hysteria. So I got up and turned on all the lights, and bathed my face with cologne, and felt better.

But I did not go to sleep. When the hall clock chimed two, I discovered I was hungry. I had had nothing since luncheon, and even the thirst following the South American goulash was gone. There was probably something to eat in the pantry, and if there was not, I was quite equal to going to the basement.

As it happened, however, I found a very orderly assortment of left-overs and a pitcher of milk, which had no business there, in the pantry, and with plenty of light I was not at all frightened.

I ate bread and butter and drank milk, and was fast becoming a rational person again; I had pulled out one of the drawers part way, and with a tray across the corner I had improvised a comfortable seat. And then I noticed that the drawer was full of soiled napkins, and I remembered the bracelet. I hardly know why I decided to go through the drawer again after Flannigan had already done it, but I did. I finished my milk and then, getting down on my knees, I proceeded systematically to empty the drawer. I took out perhaps a dozen napkins and as many dollies without finding anything. Then I took out a large tray cloth, and there was something on it that made me look farther. One corner of it had been scorched, the clear and well-defined imprint of a lighted cigarette or cigar, a blackened streak that trailed off into a brown and yellow. I had a queer, tremble feeling, as if I were on the brink of a discovery—perhaps Anne's pearls, or the cuff buttons with storks painted on china in the center. But the only thing I found, down in the corner of the drawer, was a half-burned cigarette.

To me, it seemed quite enough. It was one of the South American cigarettes, with a tobacco wrapper instead of paper, that Mr. Harbison smoked.

CHAPTER XII.

The Roof Garden.

I was quite ill the next morning—from excitement, I suppose. Anyhow, I did not get up, and there wasn't any breakfast. Jim said he roused Flannigan at eight o'clock to go down and get the fire started, and then went back to bed. But Flannigan did not get up. He appeared, sheepishly, at half-past ten, and by that time Bella was down, in a towering rage, and had burned her hand and got the fire started, and had taken up a tray for Aunt Selina and herself.

As the others straggled down they boiled themselves eggs or ate fruit, and nobody put anything away. Lollie Mercer made me some tea and scorched toast, and brought it, about 11 o'clock.

"I never saw such a house," she declared. "A dozen housemaids couldn't put it in order. Why should every man that smokes drop ashes wherever he happens to be?"

"That's the question of the ages," I replied languidly. "What was Max talking so horribly about a little while ago?" Lollie looked up aggrieved.

"About nothing at all," she declared. "Anne told me to clean the bathtubs with oil, and I did it, that's all. Now Max says he couldn't get it off, and his clothes stick to him, and if he should forget and strike a match in the—in the usual way, he would explode. He can clean his own tub tomorrow," she finished vindictively.

At noon Jim came in to see me, bringing Anne as a concession to Bella. He was in a rage, and he carried the morning paper like a club in his hand.

"What sort of a newspaper lie would you call this?" he demanded irritably. "It makes me crazy; everybody with a mental image of me leaning over the parapet of the roof, waving a board, with the rest of you sitting on my legs to keep me from overbalancing."

"Maybe there's a picture!" Anne said hopefully.

"No picture," he announced. "I wonder why they restrained themselves! I wish Bella would keep off the roof," he added, with fresh access of rage, "or wear a mask or veil. One of those fellows is going to recognize her, and there'll be the deuce to pay."

"When you are all through discussing this thing, perhaps you will tell me what is the matter," I remarked, from my couch. "Why did you lean over the parapet, Jim, and who sat on your legs?"

"I didn't; nobody did," he retorted, waving the newspaper. "It's a lie cut out of the whole cloth. That's what it is. I asked you girls to be decent to those reporters; it never pays to offend a newspaper man. Listen to this, Kit."

He read the article rapidly, furiously, pausing every now and then to make an exasperated comment.

THE ROOF GARDEN.

Attempt at Escape Frustrated—Members of the Four Hundred Defy the Law.

"Special Officer McCloud, on duty at the quarantined house of James Wilson, artist and clubman, on Ninety-fifth street, reported this morning a daring attempt at escape, made at 3 a. m. It is in this house that some eight or nine members of the smart set were imprisoned during the course of a dinner party, when the Japanese butler developed smallpox. The party shut in the house includes Miss Katherine McNair, the daughter of Theodore McNair of the Inter-Ocean system; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed, the well-known clubman and whist, and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, guest of the Dallas Browns and a South American.

"Officer McCloud's story, told to a Chronicle reporter this morning, is as follows: The occupants of the house had been uneasy all day. From the air of subdued bustle, and from a careful inspection of the roof, made by the entire party during the afternoon, his suspicion had been aroused. Nothing unusual, however, occurred during the early part of the night. From eight o'clock to twelve McCloud was relieved from duty, his place being taken by Michael Shane of the Eighty-sixth street station.

"When McCloud came on duty at midnight, Shane reported that about 11 o'clock the searchlight of a steamer on the river, flashing over the house, had shown a man crouching on the parapet, evidently surveying the roof across, which at this point is only 12 feet distant, with a view of making his escape. On seeing Shane below, however, he had beat a retreat, but not before the officer had seen him distinctly. He was dressed in evening clothes and wore a light tan overcoat.

"Officer McCloud relieved Shane at midnight, and sent for a plain-clothes man from the station house. This man was stationed on the roof of the Bevington residence next door, with strict injunctions to prevent an escape from the quarantined mansion. Nothing suspicious having occurred, the man on the roof left about 3 a. m., reporting to McCloud below that everything was quiet. At that moment, glancing skyward, one of the officers was astounded to see a long narrow board projected itself from the coping of the Wilson house, waver uncertainly for a moment, and then advance stealthily toward the parapet across. When it was within a foot or two of a resting place, McCloud called sharply to the invisible refugee above, at the same time firing his revolver in the ground.

"The result was surprising. The board stopped, trembled, swayed a little, and dropped, missing the vigilant officer by a hair's breadth, and crashing to the cement with a terrific force. An inspection of the roof from the Bevington house, later, revealed nothing unusual. It is evident, however, that the quarantine is proving irksome to the inhabitants of the sequestered residence, most of whom are typical society folk without resources in themselves. Their condition, without valets and maids, is certainly pitiable. It has been rumored that the ladies are doing their own hair, and that the gentlemen have been reduced to putting their own buttons in their shirts. This deplorable situation, however, is unavoidable.

"The vigilance of the board of health has been most commendable in this case. Beginning with a vager over the telephone that they would break quarantine in 24 hours, and ending with the attempt to span a 12-foot gulf with a board, over which to cross to freedom, these shut-in society folk have shown characteristic disregard of the laws of the state. It is quite time to extend to the millionaire the same strictness that keeps the commuter at home for three weeks with the measles; that makes him get the milk bottles and groceries from the gatepost and smell like dog-soap for a month afterward, as a result of disinfection."

We sat in dead silence for a minute. Then:

"Perhaps it is true," I said. "Not of you, Jim—but some one may have tried to get out that way. In fact, I think it extremely likely."

"Who? Flannigan? You couldn't drive him out. He's having the time of his life. Do you suspect me?"

"Come away and don't fight," Anne broke in pacifically. "You will have to have luncheon sent in, Jimmy; nobody has ordered anything from the shops, and I feel like old Mother Hubbard."

"I wish you would all go out," I said wearily. "If every man in the house says he didn't try to get over to the next roof last night, well and good. But you might look and see if the board is still lying where it fell."

There was an instantaneous rush for the window, and a second's pause. Then Jimmy's voice, incredulous, awoke:

"Well, I'll be—blessed! There's the board!"

I stayed in my room all that day. My head really ached and then, too, I did not care to meet Mr. Harbison. It would have to come; I realized that a meeting was inevitable, but I wanted time to think how I would meet him. It would be impossible to cut him, without rousing the curiosity of the others to fever pitch; and it was equally impossible to ignore the disgraceful episode on the stairs. As it happened, however, I need not have worried. I went down to dinner, flung, and found Max at my right, and Mr. Harbison moved over beside Bella. Every one was talking at once, for Flannigan, ambling around the table as airily as he walked his beat, had presented Bella with her bracelet on a salad plate, garnished with romaine. He had found it in the furnace room, he said, where she must have dropped it. And he looked at me stealthily, to approve his modesty!

Every one was famished, and as they ate they discussed the board in the area-way, and pretended to deride it as a clever bit of press work, to revive a dying sensation. No one was deceived: Anne's pearls and the attempt at escape, coming just after, pointed only to one thing. I looked around the table, dazed. Flannigan, almost the only unknown quantity, might have tried to escape the night before, but he would not have been in dress clothes. Besides, he must be eliminated as far as the pearls were concerned, having been locked in the furnace room the night they were stolen. There was no one among the girls to suspect. The Mercer girls had stunning pearls, and could secure all they wanted legitimately; and Bella disliked them. Oh, there was no question about it, I decided: Dallas and Anne had taken a wolf to their bosom—or is it a viper?—and the Harbison man was the creature. Although I must say that, looking over the table, at Jimmy's breadth and not very imposing personality, at Max's lean length, sallow skin and bold dark eyes, at Dallas, blond, growing bald and florid, and then at the Harbison boy, tall, muscular, clear-eyed and sunburned, one would have taken Max at first choice as the villain, with Dallas, Jim third, and the Harbison boy not in the running.

It was just after dinner that the surprise was sprung on me. Mr. Harbison came around to me gravely, and asked me if I felt able to go up on the roof. On the roof, after last night! I had to gather myself together; luckily, the others were pushing back their chairs, showing Flannigan the liqueur glasses to take up, and lighting cigars.

"I do not care to go," I said feily. "The others are coming," he persisted, "and I—I could give you an arm up the stairs."

"I believe you are good at that," I said, looking at him steadily. "Max, will you help me to the roof?"

Mr. Harbison really turned rather white. Then he bowed ceremoniously and left me.

Max got me a wrap, and every one except Mr. Harbison and Bella, who was taking a mass of indigestibles to Aunt Selina, went to the roof.

"Where is Tom?" Anne asked, as we reached the foot of the stairs. "Gone ahead to fix things," was the answer. But he was not there. At the top of the last flight I stopped, dumb with amazement; the roof had been transformed, enchanted. It was a fairy-land of lights and foliage and colors. I had to stop and rub my eyes. From the bleakness of a tin roof in February to the brightness and greenery of a July roof garden!

"You were the immediate inspiration," Dallas said. "Harbison thought your headache might come from lack of exercise and fresh air, and he has worked us like niggers all day. I've a blister on my right palm, and Harbison got shocked while he was wiring the place, and nearly fell off the parapet. We bought out two full-sized florists by telephone."

It was the most amazing transformation. At each corner a pole had been erected, and wire crossed the roof diagonally, hung with red and amber bulbs. Around the chimneys had been massed evergreen trees in tubs, hiding their brick-and-mortar ugliness, and among the trees tiny lights were strung. Along the parapet were rows of geometrical boxwood plants in bright red creeds, and the flaps of a crimson and white tent had been thrown open, showing lights within, and rugs, wicker chairs, and cushions.

Max raised a glass of benedictine and posed for a moment, melodramatically.

"To the Wilson roof garden!" he said. "To Kit, who inspired; to the creators, who perspired; and to Takahiro—may he not have expired?"

Every one was very gay; I think the knowledge that tomorrow Aunt Selina might be with them urged them to make the most of this last night of freedom. I tried to be jolly, and succeeded in being feverish. Mr. Harbison did not come up to enjoy what he had wrought. Jim brought up his guitar and sang love songs in a beautiful tenor, looking at Bella all the time. And Bella sat in a steamer chair, with a rug over her and a spangled veil on her head, looking at the boats on the river—about as soft and as chastened as an acetylene head light.

And after Max had told the most improbable tale, which Lolla advised him to sprinkle salt on, and Dallas had done a clog dance, Bella said it was time for her complexion sleep and went downstairs, and broke up the party.

"If she only gave half as much care to her immortal soul," Anne said when she had gone, "as she does to her skin, she would let that nice Harbison boy alone. She must have been brutal to him tonight, for he went to bed at nine o'clock. At least, I suppose he went to bed, for he shut himself in the studio, and when I knocked he advised me not to come in."

I had pleaded my headache as an excuse for avoiding Aunt Selina all day, and she had not sent for me. Bella was really quite extraordinary. She was never in the habit of putting herself out for any one, and she always declared that the very odor of a sick-room drove her to Scotch and soda. But here she was, rubbing Aunt Selina's back with chloroform liniment—and you know how that smells—getting her up in a chair, dressed in one of Bella's wadded silk robes, with pillows under her feet, and then doing her hair in elaborate puffs—braiding her gray switch and bringing it, coronet-fashion, around the top of her head. She even put rice powder on Aunt Selina's nose and dabbed violet water behind her ears, and said

Danderine

Makes your hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It roots right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

Immediately after applying a little Danderine all dandruff will disappear, all itching of the scalp will cease and there will be no more loose or falling hair.

If you wish to double the beauty of your hair in ten minutes surely try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few moments your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

If you care for beautiful, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter—A real surprise awaits you.

she couldn't understand why she (Aunt Selina) had never married, but, of course, she probably would some day!

The result was, naturally, that the old lady wouldn't let Bella out of her sight, except to go to the kitchen for something to eat for her. That very day Bella got the doctor to order also for Aunt Selina (oh, yes; the doctor could come in; Dallas said "it was all coming in, and nothing going out") and she had three pints of Bass, and learned to eat anchovies and caviare—all in one day.

Bella's conduct to Jim was disgraceful. She snubbed him, ignored him, tramped on him, and Jim was growing positively flabby. He spent most of his time writing letters to the board of health and playing solitaire. He was a pathetic figure.

Well, we went to bed fairly early. Bella had massaged Aunt Selina's face and rubbed in cold cream, Anne and Dallas had compromised on which window should be open in their bedroom, and the men had matched to see who should look at the furnace. I did not expect to sleep, but the cold night air had done its work, and I was asleep almost immediately.

Some time during the early part of the night I awakened, and, after turning and twisting uneasily, I realized that I was cold. The couch in Bella's dressing room was comfortable enough, but narrow and low. I remember distinctly (that was what was so maddening: Everybody thought I dreamed it)—I remember getting an elderdown comfort that was folded at my feet, and pulling it up around me.

And then we heard Jimmy run down the stairs, and fall over something, almost breaking his wrist. It was the elderdown comfort, half-way up the studio staircase!

Only a Few Hours' Ride. Church—Here's an advertisement of a railroad's night trains. It says "You go to sleep in Philadelphia and wake up in New York."

Gotham—Well, I don't generally take stock in railroad advertisements, but I guess that one's true, all right. —Yonkers Statesman.

In the luxury of its warmth I snuggled down and went to sleep almost instantly. It seemed to me I had slept for hours, but it was probably an hour or less, when something roused me. The room was perfectly dark, and

Max raised a glass of benedictine and posed for a moment, melodramatically.

"To the Wilson roof garden!" he said. "To Kit, who inspired; to the creators, who perspired; and to Takahiro—may he not have expired?"

Every one was very gay; I think the knowledge that tomorrow Aunt Selina might be with them urged them to make the most of this last night of freedom. I tried to be jolly, and succeeded in being feverish. Mr. Harbison did not come up to enjoy what he had wrought. Jim brought up his guitar and sang love songs in a beautiful tenor, looking at Bella all the time. And Bella sat in a steamer chair, with a rug over her and a spangled veil on her head, looking at the boats on the river—about as soft and as chastened as an acetylene head light.

And after Max had told the most improbable tale, which Lolla advised him to sprinkle salt on, and Dallas had done a clog dance, Bella said it was time for her complexion sleep and went downstairs, and broke up the party.

"If she only gave half as much care to her immortal soul," Anne said when she had gone, "as she does to her skin, she would let that nice Harbison boy alone. She must have been brutal to him tonight, for he went to bed at nine o'clock. At least, I suppose he went to bed, for he shut himself in the studio, and when I knocked he advised me not to come in."

NOT THE ONLY ONE

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF DIXON PEOPLE SIMILARLY SITUATED.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Dixon residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question:

Julius Gottlieb, 418 W. First St., Dixon, Ill., says: "My back pained me for some time and I was often so lame and sore that it was hard for me to stoop. The secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and I was thus convinced that my kidneys were disordered. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store and commenced their use. My experience with this remedy is very satisfactory and I am pleased to acknowledge the benefit I received." (Statement given April 14, 1909).

A Lasting Effect.
Mr. Gottlieb was interviewed on January 4, 1910, and he added to the above: "You may continue to publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has been permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Attention housewives! In selecting your wall paper this spring, ask to see the books of samples carried by E. A. Patrick. Newest and most beautiful designs, and what will be of more interest to the home makers, a beautiful sample of cretonne or curtain material is carried to match the paper identically. Nothing like these goods ever before seen here. Consult an artist with many years experience in coloring when furnishing your rooms anew for spring. E. A. Patrick will tell you about it. Phone 773.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS

A Telegraphic Chronicle of State Happenings.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TOUR ENDS

Itinerary Included Twenty Cities Which Were Covered in Twenty Days--Charles B. Hall Delivers Talk.

Chicago, March 5.--The Illinois Sunday school tour party finished with two sessions its special statewide campaign to boost Sunday school work. The itinerary included twenty cities, which were covered in twenty days. The sessions were under auspices of the Cook County association. Charles B. Hall, secretary of the Cook County association, spoke on "An aggressive Sunday school policy for Chicago and Cook county," and Marion Lawrence, international secretary, will propose a continent-wide campaign.

Additional Illinois Candidates.

Springfield, March 5.--The following petitions for nomination were filed with the secretary of state: Congressmen--Tenth district, Socialist, Charles A. Larson, Highland Park; Thirteenth district, Democratic, Ray Ralston, Morrison; Twenty-fifth district, Socialist, Paul H. Castle, Carbondale. Member State Board of Equalization--Tenth district, Socialist, August A. Cook, 5231 North Roby street, Chicago; Twenty-first district, Republican, Joseph F. Huns, Springfield; Twenty-fifth district, Socialist, D. W. Kennedy, Duquoin. Member State Central Committee--Twenty-fifth district, Socialist, W. J. Allen, Sparta. State Senator--Twelfth district, Socialist, William H. McCall, Freeport; Forty-second district, Republican, Amos B. Mundy, Watson. Representative General Assembly--Socialist, Twelfth district, Shep H. Zimmerman, Freeport.

Will of Henry Tenk Probated.

Quincy, March 5.--The will of Henry Tenk was probated. A bequest of $100 is made to the rector of St. Boniface's Catholic church and $70 each to rectors of St. Francis, St. Mary's and St. John's churches; St. Aloysius Orphan society and St. Mary's hospital, $1,000; St. Vincent's Home for Aged, $5,000; city lot to St. Mary's Catholic church and $200 to his housekeeper, Elizabeth Kunkel. The rest of the estate is divided equally among Tenk's four children. Rudolph and Frank Tenk are named executors.

Must Take Fish However Caught.

Bloomington, March 5.--The decision of the Illinois supreme court in the Booth cases greatly affects fishermen and fish dealers. The section of the fish law which prohibits the sale of game fish in Illinois was upheld, but the court declared unconstitutional that section applying to the transportation or sale of fish caught outside of the state. The court held that a state has no power wholly to exclude a lawful article of commerce produced in another state.

Editor's Fall May Be Fatal.

Virginia, March 5.--R. L. Hoagland, editor and proprietor of the Independent, a weekly at Arenzville, is ill as result of an unusual accident. He lost his footing leaving a store in Arenzville and his right foot struck the metal buckle on the hose supporter on his left limb, severing an artery. He almost bled to death before medical assistance could be summoned. It is feared the loss of blood, together with symptoms of blood poisoning now appearing will prove fatal.

Boy "Blank Hand" Trapped.

Mount Vernon, March 5.--John Allen, sixteen years old, is in jail in Newton, charged with attempting to extort $1,000 from Mayor Miller. He is charged with sending a threatening letter declaring that he would send the mayor to hell if the money failed to be at a certain place. A decoy package trapped Allen.

Grain Shippers Would Modify Law. Bloomington, March 5.--L. M. Wayne of Delavan, president of the National Association of Grain Dealers, departed for Washington to confer with Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Doctor Wiley concerning modification of the pure food law relating to shipments of corn and oats.

Two Burned Playing With Fire. Mount Vernon, March 5.--The three-year-old son of William Dempsey was burned to death while playing with matches. The three-year-old daughter of Frank Murphy was burned playing with fire.

Dies in Attempt to Cure Insomnia. Bloomington, March 5.--George Myers, veterinary surgeon of Arrow-smith, was found dead in bed, having swallowed an overdose of morphine taken to overcome insomnia.

Schroeder Innocent of Murder. Kewanee, March 5.--A verdict of not guilty was returned in the trial of Ernest Schroeder of Geneseo, who was accused of the murder of Ignatz Schmidt, an aged relative.

Judge Reeves Dies at Age of 82. Bloomington, March 5.--Owen T. Reeves, aged eighty-two, dean of the Illinois Wesleyan Law school and for eighteen years circuit and appellate judge, is dead.

The Fair will not open until 10 o'clock Thursday, on account of the special sale on laces and embroideries which starts Thursday. 552

CISTERNs cleaned and repaired. Leave orders at Thilson's drug store, or at my residence, 316 E. Fellows St. Fred Spell. 50 10

Mrs. Nettie Scott, Spirella Corsetiere, will remain in Dixon March 5, 6 and 7. Corsets made to individual measurements. Phone 329. 543

The display of laces and embroidery at The Fair is attracting the ladies. A special sale is to be held the last three days of this week, and valuable cut glass and china given to purchasers. The special sales at this store appear to be a success, judging from the large crowd in attendance. 552

Notice to the Public--Park Restaurant Changes Hands.

Having recently sold my restaurant and confectionery to Mr. G. Lester Robinson, I take this means of thanking my many friends and customers for the liberal patronage they have given me during my business career in this city. My successor, Mr. Robinson, will carry the very best lines of candy, cigars, tobacco and all other necessary restaurant and confectionery products. He is a Dixon young man of honest, energetic and courteous business methods and I sincerely recommend him to my numerous friends, trusting they will accord him the same generous patronage they have given me. Yours respectfully, Ed Franks. 1*

The last three days of this week at The Fair will be sale days on laces, embroideries, flouncings, bandings and other goods of like nature. More than 10,000 yards will go on sale at prices much lower than similar goods are usually sold. Every inch of lace, etc., is new--brand new, and in perfect condition. Valuable prizes will be given away each evening. 552
